KINGDOM STARS SPOTLIGHT

by Eniola Adejumo

The Fatherhood that Shaped 'Bishop David Oyedepo'

Introduction:

In the vast galaxy of influential spiritual leaders, two shining stars have left an indelible mark on the landscape of Christianity in Nigeria.

Bishop David Oyedepo, the founder of the Living Faith Church Worldwide is renowned for his dynamic ministry and unwavering faith. The journey to becoming the man we know today would not have been the same without the guiding light of another spiritual giant – Pastor Enoch Adeboye.

In this edition of Kingdom Stars Spotlight, we delve into the profound influence of Pastor Enoch Adeboye on the life and ministry of Bishop David Oyedepo.

The Word from the Lord

It has been said by the Bishop that just as he was about to step into full-time ministry, God spoke to him and said "Son, I will not have you go as others have gone".

I will have hands laid on you for the impartation of the spirit of wisdom.

This is synonymous with the story of the great men of old that were used by God. Wherever you are right now boldly, open your mouth and make this declaration:

Father, continue to lead me and grant me the grace to always obey your instruction in Jesus' name. Amen.

The anointing makes the difference

When the young David Oyedepo got that word from the Lord asking him to send for his servant, Pastor. Enoch Adejare Adeboye to ordain him, he immediately sent a letter to Pastor. Adeboye who at the time had just been made the General Overseer of The Redeemed Christian Church of God amidst a lot of opposition.

Upon receiving the letter, Pastor. Adeboye was not in agreement because he was still trying to navigate his new pastoral assignment and he had other responsibilities on the day that the ordination had been scheduled. He politely declined in a letter to the then Bro. David Oyedepo but guess what?

The intervention of God

After sending the letter to Bro. Oyedepo, it is reported that Pastor. Adeboye heard the Lord tell him this 'I see that you didn't ask me about the letter you got to ordain a young man to ministry in Ilorin.'

Adeboye humbly replied 'Lord! I have some duties and programmes in the RCCG for that date so I had to decline' The Lord said 'Delegate those duties for you are going on down to Ilorin. Behold I am sending you down there!'

Immediately, Pastor. Adeboye sent a letter to Bro. David Oyedepo telling him to discard his previous letter as he had now heard from God. Meanwhile, Bro. David had also sent a letter upon receiving the very first letter from Pastor. Adeboye that God was the one asking the Pastor to ordain him and every other program was his, not the Lord's.

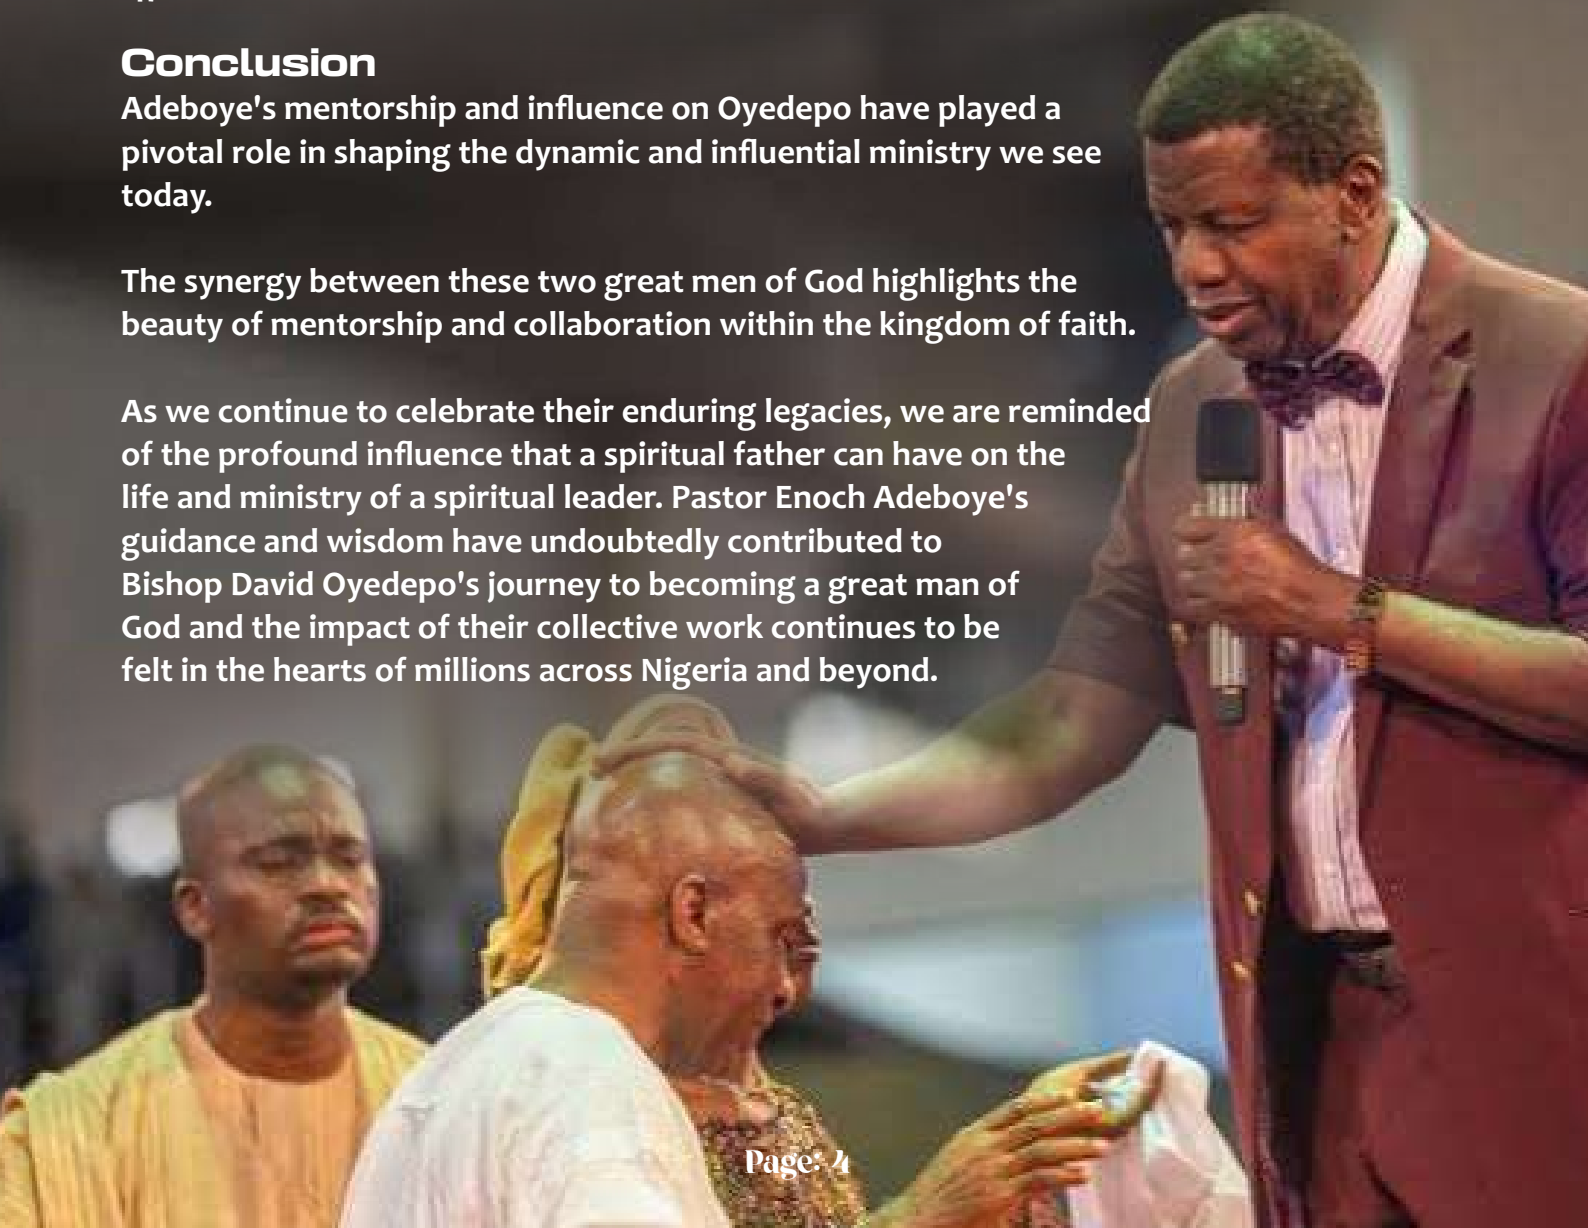

It was indeed a glorious confirmation of what God was set to do. Pastor. Adeboye went down to Ilorin and ordained his son into ministry and the rest as they say are history. It is evident that obedience to that instruction paid off and has impacted the lives of over 6 million members in 147 countries of the world.

Conclusion

Adeboye's mentorship and influence on Oyedepo have played a pivotal role in shaping the dynamic and influential ministry we see today.

The synergy between these two great men of God highlights the beauty of mentorship and collaboration within the kingdom of faith.

As we continue to celebrate their enduring legacies, we are reminded of the profound influence that a spiritual father can have on the life and ministry of a spiritual leader. Pastor Enoch Adeboye's guidance and wisdom have undoubtedly contributed to Bishop David Oyedepo's journey to becoming a great man of God and the impact of their collective work continues to be felt in the hearts of millions across Nigeria and beyond.

Unlocking the Power of Anointing for Exploits”

Reviewed By Sebastine Sylvia B.

The real spiritual insight will always command exploits, for "the people that do know their God shall be strong and do exploits" (Daniel 11:32). Join me now as we embark on a journey into the realm of exploits through the anointing and discover your place in God.

WHAT IS THE ANOINTING?

The anointing is a divine enabling, a deeper encounter with the Holy Spirit than the baptism with the evidence of speaking in other tongues. It follows the baptism and is more profound.

WHAT IS IN THE ANOINTING?

- a. The anointing is for "doing," enabling you to fulfil God's eternal purpose for your life.
- b. It is to destroy yokes.
- c. It is to liberate mankind.

THE PERSONALITY BEHIND THE ANOINTING

In the last days, God has ordained the Church to be a pace-setter for all creation. He has been pouring out the Holy Spirit upon prophets, pastors, priests, and kings in the Old Testament, enabling them to function in their offices.

WHO IS THE HOLY SPIRIT?

1. He is the Spirit of Holiness: His very nature hates sin and is sourced in the thrice-holy God. He enables you to live a clean life and develop a distaste for sin.

2. He is the Quickener: The Holy Spirit revives and injects life into you. He preserves your body from death and rescues you from the sin nature.

3. He is the Comforter: He brings comfort and health, connecting you to a comfortable life.

4. He is the Good Gift: The Holy Spirit is the gift that secures your place in God.

5. He is the Messenger of the Covenant: He communicates the mysteries of the covenant, enlightening your understanding and revealing God's truth.

GREAT BENEFITS OF TONGUES

1. It helps you pray according to God's will.
2. Engage in the intercessory ministry of the Holy Spirit.
3. Give thanks well.
4. Sanctify your tongue.
5. It brings about personal transformation.

A SURETY FOR EXPLOITS

The Spirit of Counsel guides you into God's vision for your life. It is a gift from the Holy Spirit and cannot be learned in school. When He comes, He will guide you into all truth.

THE SPIRIT OF WISDOM

The Holy Spirit imparts creative wisdom, making you productive and creatively efficient. This wisdom enlightens your understanding of God's plans, educates your mind for productivity, and imparts creative abilities for exploits. All the exploits of God are tied to this wisdom.

PROVOKING THE FORCES TO PRODUCE

Every operation of the Holy Spirit is traced back to the Word of God. Deepening access to the Word is essential to provoke these forces (power, wisdom, excellence, counsel, might, revelation, and holiness) in your life.

In conclusion, it is time to leave the elementary principles of Christ and go on to perfection. Desire to be a partaker of the heavenly gift, the Holy Ghost, which embodies the seven spirits of God. Seek enlightenment and yearn for the world to come, and you will be set for exploits.

7 Shocking Facts About Breast Cancer

Mercy Akinbinu

Have you ever pondered the causes of breast cancer and its prevention?

Perhaps you've come across misconceptions like "breast cancer is contagious" or "having your spouse suck your breast can prevent the disease."

If you're inquisitive about breast cancer and whether these statements hold any truth, you're in the right place.

This article delves into the causes, signs & symptoms, popular myths, and prevention of breast cancer. So, grab a pen and paper, take notes, and discover how these facts relate to you.

What is Breast Cancer?

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer and the second most common cause of cancer-related death among women.

It is characterized by the abnormal transformation of cells in the breast, which grow out of control to form tumors. If left unchecked, it can spread throughout the body and become deadly.

What is the Cause of Breast Cancer?

There is no known cause of breast cancer, but there are factors that can increase a person's risk of developing this disease. Some of these risk factors cannot be altered, while others are influenced by our lifestyle and can be changed.

The changeable risk factors are associated with our lifestyle and include, but are not limited to, smoking, alcohol consumption, being overweight, physical inactivity, not having children, and using hormonal medications.

On the other hand, the unchangeable risk factors are those that cannot be controlled by our actions or daily activities. They include:

1. Growing older
2. Being female
3. Starting menstruation before the age of 12
4. Experiencing menopause after the age of 55
5. Having a family history of breast cancer

What Are The Signs & Symptoms of Breast Cancer?

Combinations of symptoms are common in breast cancer, especially when it is in an advanced stage. In its early stages, most people do not experience any symptoms.

Symptoms of breast cancer may include:

1. Swelling of all or part of the breast.
2. Skin irritation or dimpling.
3. Breast pain.
4. Nipple pain or the nipple turning inward.
5. Redness, scaliness, or thickening of the nipple or breast skin.
6. Nipple discharge other than breast milk.
7. A lump in the underarm area.

It's important to note that most breast lumps are not cancerous. However, if you discover a breast lump, seek medical attention, even if it does not cause you pain.

Popular Myths About Breast Cancer And Facts

Myth #1: Prolonged bra wear can potentially contribute to an increased risk of breast cancer.

Correction: This is not true.

No study has been able to confirm the relationship between wearing bras and breast cancer.

Although putting on a bra for long hours or overnight can be uncomfortable, it does not cause breast cancer.

Myth #2: Consuming excessive sugar can lead to an increased risk of breast cancer.

Correction: This is also not true.

Consuming excessive sugar places you at risk of conditions such as obesity and diabetes, rather than breast cancer.

Myth #3: Only women can have breast cancer

Correction: This is false.

According to the World Health Organisation, approximately 0.5–1% of men globally are diagnosed with breast cancer.

Due to its rarity, it is often detected at a late stage, which can be fatal. Men also need to conduct regular breast self-examinations.

Myth #4: "If I don't have a family history of breast cancer, I won't get it."

Correction: This is not true.

People who do not know any family members to have breast cancer have been diagnosed with the disease.

While it is true that having a family member who has had breast cancer is a risk factor, it does not mean those who do not have it are unlikely to have the disease.

Myth #5: Having my spouse suck my breast can prevent breast cancer

Correction: This is false

Breast sucking will only help your spouse notice any abnormalities with your breast and that can motivate you to go for a check-up.

What truly helps in preventing the disease is breastfeeding babies as confirmed by various studies.

Myth #6: Breast cancer is contagious

Correction: This statement is not true

Breast cancer is not a communicable disease, which means it cannot spread from one person to another.

Myth #7: "Breast cancer always appears in the form of a lump"

Correction: This is not entirely true

Some women may experience lumps in their breasts before or during their menstrual cycle, which typically resolves after menstruation. Additionally, some individuals may have breast cancer without noticing any lump in their breasts.

However, if you do detect a lump in your breast, it is important to seek immediate medical attention to confirm that it is not cancerous.

Is Breast Cancer Treatable?

Yes, breast cancer can be treated and it has survival rate when detected early.

Once diagnosed, the treatment approach depends on the cancer subtype and the extent to which it has spread from the breast to other parts of the body or lymph nodes.

To reduce the risk of cancer recurrence, doctors may employ various treatment modalities, including:

- Surgery to remove the breast tumor
- Radiation therapy, which reduces the likelihood of recurrence in the breast and surrounding tissues

- Medication, such as hormone therapy, chemotherapy, or targeted biological therapies

How Can You Prevent Breast Cancer?

1. Quitting and avoiding smoking
2. Maintaining a healthy diet
3. Limiting alcohol consumption
4. Breastfeeding
5. Managing your weight
6. Regular exercise
7. Minimizing exposure to radiation and environmental pollution
8. Undergoing an annual mammogram starting at age 50
9. Performing a monthly self-breast exam

5 Easy Steps to Carry Out a Monthly Self-Breast Exam

- Before we outline the steps, it's essential to note:
- The purpose of a monthly self-breast exam is not to diagnose breast cancer but to identify any abnormal changes.
- An ideal time to perform a breast self-examination is 2-3 days after the end of your monthly menstrual cycle.
- For women who do not menstruate and for men, choose a specific day every month and adhere to it.

Step 1

Begin by looking at your breast in the mirror with your shoulders straight and your hands on your hips, and check for the following:

- Shape: Normally, one breast is larger than the other, but if you notice a sudden and irregular change, you should be concerned.
- Skin: Look out for an orange peel texture. Dimpling, puckering, redness, and rashes should also be checked for.
- Nipples: Check for itching, scaliness, swelling, or discharge.
- A marble-like lump below the skin.

Step 2

- Lie down and roll onto your left side, placing a pillow under your shoulder or back to examine your right breast.
- Place your right hand on your head/forehead.

Step 3

- Use the three middle fingers of your left hand and start moving them in small circles.
- Vary the pressure with each circle.
- Repeat this for the entire breast, including the nipple, without lifting your fingers.
- Squeeze the nipples to check for discharge.

Step 4

- Examine your underarm area starting as high as possible in your armpit and running your fingers downwards looking for any lump.

Step 5

- Repeat steps 2, 3, and 4 on the left breast

Final Thoughts

In 2020, breast cancer accounted for 685,000 deaths worldwide, making it the second most frequent cancer.

Although the exact cause of breast cancer remains unknown, several established risk factors, such as early menarche, delayed menopause, and the use of hormonal birth control, are known to increase the odds of developing the disease.

It is advised that women between the ages of 50 and 74 undergo breast cancer screening with mammography once every two years. The highest chance of recovery is achieved when breast cancer is detected in its early stages before it spreads to other parts of the body.

RAISING GODLY CHILDREN IN TODAY'S WORLD

Dcn Bode Olagunju

Raising children to be Godly in a world filled with distractions and challenges is a commandment from God and a rewarding endeavor. For parents and guardians, instilling strong values and a deep faith in their children is a sacred responsibility given by God. In this article, we will explore some essential practices that can help guide families in the journey of raising Godly children.

FAMILY ALTAR

Consistent family worship and prayer time can have a great impact on children. This gives an opportunity for you to read scriptures, share stories of faith and pray together as a family. This not only strengthens the spiritual bond within the family but also provides a foundation for a child's own personal relationship with God.

TEACH THE SCRIPTURES EARLY

Introduce your children to the Bible from an early age. Make scripture a part of your daily life and encourage your children to ask questions and engage in discussions about what they read. When they understand the word of God, they can better apply it to their lives. As your children grow, encourage them to develop their own relationship with God.

LEAD BY EXAMPLE

Children learn by what they see and the best way to instill faith in them is by living a faithful life. Be a role model in demonstrating love, kindness, forgiveness and patience. Your actions and attitudes should reflect the values you wish to instill in your children. Your relationship with God should be evident through your daily life and actions.

ENCOURAGE THEM TO ENGAGE IN KINGDOM SERVICE

Kingdom service engagements have such a significant impact in the life of children. Encouraging them to be a part of such a great move of God early in life ultimately prepares them to become a great disciple of Christ in life. Take them along for evangelism, encourage them to become faithful active members of service units in Church. It thus provides them with a sense of belonging and a supportive environment for their spiritual growth. It also exposes them to different experiences that can enrich their faith journey.

SET BOUNDARIES

In a world with many distractions and temptations, it is essential to set clear boundaries for your children. Discuss age-appropriate TV shows, use of technology and social interactions. These boundaries should be rooted in the word of God.

PRAY FOR YOUR CHILDREN

Lastly, never underestimate the power of prayer. Lift your children up in prayer daily asking for God's guidance and protection in their lives. Praying for your children is an act of love and faith that will make a significant difference in their spiritual journey.

CONCLUSION

Raising Godly children is a lifelong journey that requires dedication, patience and love. We must trust God for direction as we lead our children in the way of God.

In a world filled with challenges, raising Godly children is a powerful way to make a positive impact and nurture the next generation of believers.
